Part III, line 4:

The historic Rosen House, with its period rooms and collections, is open to the public for tours. In addition, the archival materials are a great source of humanities research in a number of fields. One example is the documentation relating to the Rosens' patronage of Leon Theremin and championing of his early electronic music instrument. This material has been a source of study for theremin researchers, including Robert Moog, who began building theremins in the 1950s as a high school student and later went on to design the Moog synthesizer and Albert Glinsky, Theremin's biographer and the author of Theremin: Ether Music and Espionage.

The Rosen House collection demonstrates a tremendous breadth of art objects, furniture, and archival material. The art and furniture encompass over 1,000 cataloged objects, including European furniture from the 16th-19th centuries; European medieval and Renaissance paintings, sculpture, textiles, and decorative objects; and Asian statuary. There are also approximately 100 light fixtures and decorative elements by Edward F. Caldwell and Company dating from the 1930s. Other categories include photographs, textiles, early 20th-century costumes, and musical instruments. In addition, there is a wealth of ephemeral material relating to the Rosens, the development of the Caramoor campus, and the establishment of public performances.

Objects from the collection displayed in the Music Room of the Rosen House, including a wooden 16th-century Italian ceiling, French and Swiss 16th-century stained glass, Renaissance tapestries, and 17th-century furniture, create an incomparable setting for chamber music performances. The collection also provides primary material for Caramoor's arts-in-education programs.

Part V, line 4:

Caramoor maintains various donor-restricted endowment funds and board designated quasi-endowment funds whose purpose is to provide long term support for its charitable programs.

Part X, Line 2:

Caramoor recognizes the effect of income tax positions only if those positions are more likely than not to be sustained. Management has determined that Caramoor had no uncertain tax positions that would require

In 1999, with the support of The Ernst C. Stiefel Foundation, Caramoor established a residency program for young string ensembles. Each year a quartet is selected and given opportunities throughout the year to develop as an ensemble, to work with a young composer, to perform for Caramoor's audiences, and to engage local schoolchildren in arts outreach.

Our Student Strings program connects Caramoor's Ernst Stiefel String Quartet-in-Residence with middle and high school students. This year the Ivalas Quartet (Spring 2023) and the Abeo Quartet (Fall 2023) visited 10 schools to teach a hands-on, clinic-style master class for string students and perform an assembly-style program for the general student population. Other community engagement efforts included quartet visits to an over-55 condominium community and performances at the Bedford Hills and Taconic correctional facilities.

Arts-in-Education

Since 1974, Caramoor has provided students with arts enrichment opportunities that use our exceptional facilities, visiting artists, and dedicated staff while meeting New York State education standards. Caramoor's arts-in-education program features on-campus workshops that bring students to Caramoor and a music literacy unit that sends our musicians to local schools.

This year marked the full launch of our new research-based curriculum, Caramoor Kids, which was introduced as a pilot program with select groups in 2021. Of the approximately 582 children who participated in our on-campus field trips during the 2022-23 academic year, roughly half were from Title 1 schools that serve children from low-income households. Caramoor offers its arts-in-education programs free of charge.

Volunteers

Through their generous commitment of time, enthusiasm, and expertise, Caramoor benefits from the contributions of volunteers throughout the year. In a typical year, the number is determined by the scope of Caramoor's presenting activities and educational programs, in addition to the availability of the volunteers themselves. The majority of volunteers act as ushers at Caramoor's year-round music presentations. They are often the public face of Caramoor, acting as greeters, helping audience members to their seats, and helping to ensure the visiting public's safety and comfort. They also provide guidance during public tours of the Rosen House as well as performing clerical duties and undertaking cataloging projects.

By serving on various committees of the board and the organization, including Finance, Building, Marketing, Development, and more, our board members act as fully engaged stewards of Caramoor's mission. One hundred percent of the board participates personally by making major contributions to support annual operating costs as well as fundraising for Caramoor. Members also serve as members of committees of the organization, are involved in special initiatives/projects, and in advisory roles to various staff members. Individuals are selected by the Governance Committee from among our dedicated ticket buyers and donors for renewable terms of three years.
